WINES WITH PERSONALITY

2006 Beaujolais Vintage Report

A good year producing generous red wines with good concentration and typicity. Varied weather extremes necessitated that growers work hard in the vineyard. The winter was long and cold; spring arrived later than average but June and July saw a long, dry heat wave. August followed and was cool and damp. At lower altitudes there were problems with hail damage and rot but the higher Cru and Beaujolais Villages vineyards escaped the worst of the problems. Harvest was tricky due to uneven ripeness of grapes but those who worked carefully and made a selection at harvest were able to produce good wines.
