WINES WITH PERSONALITY

2007 Burgundy Vintage Report

2007 was a challenging year. Twenty years ago it would have been even more of a challenge but better vineyard management and vigorous selection at harvest has produced good wines showing classic burgundy characteristics.

The year started out warm and dry with a very early bud burst putting vines several weeks ahead in the spring. This promising start was followed by a cool, wet summer which caused concern and affected the ripeness and health of some grapes. A better September allowed vines to recover producing better than hoped for results.

The whites reveal classic burgundy wines with pronounced minerality in Chablis, finesse and balance in the Cote d'Or and opulent aromas to the south. Reds are fresh and appealing with rounded berry characters and good structure.
