THE PORTFOLIO

Dear Customer,

Our role in this competitive world is to provide you, above all, with quality wines of character, continuity, efficient friendly service and prompt delivery. To help us further achieve this we have now moved into a rather more spacious airy office - Denman Street W1 - in the heart of Soho and just a few paces from Piccadilly Circus. Here the sales team can welcome you to taste and to talk!

Since our last brochure we have been honoured with the arrival of Gosset Champagne and Frapin Cognac. As a great lover of champagne I appreciate very much the mature structure and sheer quality of Gosset and would urge you all to sample it, if you have not already succumbed.

The bouquet and depth of flavour in Frapin is something to relish, confirmed by the 2016 World Cognac Awards. Further afield, this year we have been entrusted with the distribution of Seresin Estate and MOMO from New Zealand whom we warmly welcome, as we do Morgenhof Estate in South Africa, on the slopes of the Simonsberg Mountains just outside Stellenbosch.

Meanwhile we continue to enjoy the range and support we receive from our friends in Australia - McHenry Hohnen in Margaret River and Wakefield in Clare Valley - and some stunning examples of what Chile can produce by way of the excellent Viu Manent range.

Our long standing faith in the quality of Vidal-Fleury wines was confirmed this summer when their excellent red Côtes-du-Rhône was awarded Platinum by the Decanter World Wine Awards and named Best Red Rhône Under £15. Michel Redde, our oldest agency, debuted a new single vineyard wine, the Barre à Mine, which grows on the site of a former quarry.

It is remarkable to think that Maison Latour was founded in 1797 and that Louis-Fabrice is the 11th generation to head up the company which continues to thrive and to grow; witness the success of Simonnet-Febvre in Chablis and Henry Fessy in the Beaujolais. Very sadly though, his father Louis Latour died earlier this year. He was one of the great figures in the story of Burgundy both as a leading grower and negociant and will be very much missed. Fortunately he lived to see the completion of the refurbishment of his old family home at Corton Grancey with that commanding view of the Corton Charlemagne hillside.

On behalf of everyone at Louis Latour Agencies may I thank you for your custom and wish you a good season ahead. Long may it all last.

Fine Burgundy since 1797

The Latour family are long established in Burgundy; beginning as growers in the 17th century and later founding today's business, Maison Louis Latour, in 1797. They are one of the region's most famous names and create wines from their own 50 hectare domaine in the Côte d'Or and from grapes and wines purchased from growers.

Domaine de Valmoissine

Beyond the Côte d'Or

Louis Latour has sold wines from the Mâconnais since the early 20th century and was one of the first companies to recognise the potential of this region. The wines are an excellent introduction to Burgundian Chardonnay and offer a wide range of styles including the fruity Mâcon-Lugny, the herbaceous, slightly more savoury styles from Saint-Véran and Viré-Clessé and richer somewhat mineral styles from Pouilly-Fuissé, the region's most prestigious vineyard.

In the last decades of the 20th century Louis Latour again looked for alternative sources of quality wines. In 1979 they began making Chardonnay in the Ardèche, a hilly region with ideal soils and climate for this variety. The successes of this project led them to look for a new Pinot Noir location. The result is Domaine de Valmoissine, a high altitude vineyard planted by Louis Latour on the site of a former monastery in the Côteaux du Verdon region of the Var.

2012 Louis Latour Grand Ardèche Chardonnay

“Louis Latour, family owned and run for 11 generations, is one of Burgundy’s big names but also produces good alternatives for Burgundy further south. Louis Latour Grand Ardèche Chardonnay 2012 has a subtle, buttered-toast flavour from oak aging and lime finish. Louis Latour Domaine de Valmoissine Pinot Noir 2012 from the Coteaux du Verdon has a raspberry- cherry aroma and a savoury flavour. There is also an unoaked Ardeche Chardonnay 2013 that is well worth trying.”

Côte Chalonnaise & Côte d'Or

The Côte Chalonnaise is home to distinctive, fruity early-drinking wines that offer an excellent quality to value ratio. The area is the geographical bridge between the Mâconnais and the Côte d'Or and takes its name from the town of Chalon-sur-Saône. The region has five village appellations; Mercurey produces the region's finest reds and Montagny is notable because all its wines are white.

The Côte d'Or is Burgundy's and the Latour's heartland and is home to some of the world's most sought after wines. It lies on a narrow 30 mile strip that begins in the southern outskirts of Dijon and runs to the south as far as Santenay and Maranges. The area is split into two sub regions, the Côte de Nuits in the north and the Côte de Beaune in the south. The quality and diversity of wines in this region are due to a deep understanding of its varied terroirs gained during 1000 years of viticultural history.

2012 Louis Latour Beaune Blanc

“...this richer and more buttery, with a sheen of creamy oak over riper fruit. In the mouth that nuttiness and Cox's pippin character give more weight and there is more texture, the extra ounce of ripeness nicely offset by some grip and keen acid in the finish. Delicious.”

Tom Cannavan, www.wine-pages.com 29th April 2016

Château Corton Grancey cuverie on the Corton hillside.

Domaine Louis Latour

Louis Latour's Côte d'Or domaine covers 50 hectares and represents the single largest holding of grand cru vineyards. It includes village, premier and grand cru vineyards in the villages of Aloxe-Corton, Pernand-Vergeles, Volnay, Pommard, Beaune, Puligny-Montrachet, Vosne-Romanée and Gevrey-Chambertin. Its centre is at the Château Corton Grancey cuverie which was built into the side of the Corton hill in 1834. It is one of France's first purpose built wineries which functions today more or less as it always has with minimal modern additions.

Louis Latour is an industry leader in environmental best practice and constantly strives to improve their working practices. In 1998 they joined FARRE (a national association for sustainable agriculture) and in 2003 gained ISO 14001 accreditation for Environmental Management Systems. In 2010 they launched Paysage de Corton, a project that now includes the majority of the hill's landowners and seeks to both protect and develop the biodiversity of the vineyards and the land that surrounds them.

 “94 points, Ninety per cent of this clay-based, red-soiled vineyard belongs to Louis Latour. It’s a very stylish, refined wine, showing lots of crunchy, redcurrant and pomegranate fruit flavours, filigree tannins and refreshing acidity, with none of the Corton gruffness. 2019-28.”

The Rising Star of Chablis

Simonnet-Febvre has made still and sparkling wines in Chablis since 1840. They have two wineries, one in the historic town of Chablis and the other a few kilometres away in the village of Chitry. Chardonnay and Pinot Noir grapes are sourced from a combination of their own vineyards and local growers.

Simonnet-Febvre's modern story began in 2003 after Louis Latour purchased the company and recruited young winemaker Jean-Philippe Archambaud, originally from Burgundy but with experience in the Rhône and Australia, to run the business. Since then the company has undergone a renaissance, adopting a modern outlook without diluting their traditional heritage. The result has been an exciting and highly regarded range of wines from Chablis and the surrounding Yonne vineyards.

The most recent developments have been the completion of a large winery extension in 2013 and the release of the new Coteaux de l'Auxois wines.

New wave Beaujolais

Henry Fessy was founded in 1888 and has been a well respected name in the region for many years. The domaine is the most geographically varied in Beaujolais covering almost 70 hectares, with nine of the ten cru appellations represented.

Wine quality is in part due to the prime vineyard locations and vine age, which is an average of 50 years. Farming methods mirror their concern for the environment and follow the principles of integrated farming which centre on ecologically sensitive techniques and the non-systematic use of vineyard preparations. The wines are then simply made to ensure the character of each vineyard shines through, whilst being age-worthy, with a balance between vibrant fruit characters and subtle tannins.

In 2008 Louis Latour purchased Henry Fessy and began a series of improvements to the property and range of wines. Recent developments include updating the winery in Beaujolais and launching a new Provence rosé.

The oldest wine house in Champagne.

Champagne Gosset was founded in 1584 in Aÿ. Since 2009 Gosset has been based at a fine 19th century house in Epernay. Its new premises have given them a more spacious winery and deep cellars set amongst two hectares of parkland. They have retained their historic Aÿ cellars and these are still used to mature wines. Gosset is one of the region's smaller houses and this allows them to take a handcrafted approach to their distinctive and highly regarded range of wines.

Grapes are sourced mainly from grand and premier cru vineyards around Aÿ and Epernay from a network of growers who follow environmentally sustainable practices and work closely with Gosset throughout the year.

Since 2016 winemaking has been lead by Odilon de Varine who took over following the death of former cellar master Jean-Pierre Mareigner. Odilon has been with Gosset since 2006 and continues with an approach centred on a simple, minimal intervention philosophy to retain the freshness which comes from the region's chalky soils and the unique characteristics of each cru. Long ageing and no malolactic fermentation are key to Gosset's house style.

Grand Blanc de Blancs

“Pale golden color (sic), an elegant first nose suggesting the white flowers and fruits associated with the Côte. Then, more arresting still, the distinctive punchy tones of Montagne de Chardonnay (especially, perhaps, that from Villers-Marmery), creating a medley of rich candied lemon, quince and Mirabelle, a honeyed touch of surmaturité bolstered by brilliant, durable acidity. Long and persistent on the finish...If I were forced to choose, this might well be my favorite. (sic)”

History and Modernity

Frapin is located in the heart of Cognac in the region's finest appellation, the Grande Champagne. The company's origins can be traced back to 1270 and to this day remains in original family ownership led by Jean-Pierre Cointreau.

Cognac Frapin is a unique and very special Cognac producer. It is one of the few companies to have ownership of its entire production process and all its cognacs come from its 240 hectare single vineyard.

Frapin's Cognacs are hand crafted artisanal products made without a set recipe. The vineyards are managed sustainably, distillation is carried out on the domaine in the company's copper stills and then the meticulous and complex process of maturation and blending takes many years in the company's dry and humid cellars. Frapin's Cognacs are marked by their depth and complexity, rich deep flavours and extended ageing. The company is fortunate to have exceptional stocks of Cognacs in their cellars built up over many generations.

Blending Tradition with Modernity

Vidal-Fleury is the oldest continuously operating wine house in the Rhône Valley having begun in Côte-Rôtie in 1781. Since 1920 they have produced a wider range of wines from the Northern and Southern Rhône vineyards.

Despite its long history Vidal-Fleury has continued to innovate and the last few years in particular have been witness to many significant developments. These began in 2008 when their new cellar was completed, at last giving them the space to begin increasing the quality of their wines. The arrival of winemaker Guy Sarton du Jonchay followed and he wasted no time putting the new cellar to good use.

Since 2008 we have seen the quality of Vidal-Fleury's wine increase year on year, matched by a corresponding increase in popularity with both customers and critics. The wines have a new freshness and energy, and we have been impressed by Guy's introduction of new wines and redefinition of the ranges' structure.

Winegrowers Since 1630

The Redde family have been vigneron in the Loire Valley for 14 generations; the knowledge passed from father to son has given them a detailed understanding of their vineyards and allows them to create expressive and highly individual wines. Today the domaine covers 42 hectares in the heart of the appellation and is worked by brothers Romain and Sébastien who have continued the work of their father Thierry, whilst moving more towards a minimal interventionist approach.

The domaine's signature wine La Moynerie and its little brother Petit Fumé take grapes from each of the appellation's main terroirs to create wines with depth and intensity. Alongside these wines the family produces several special cuvées to showcase specific vineyards and terroirs. Their four single vineyard wines from the communes of Tracy-Sur-Loire, Pouilly-Sur-Loire and Saint Andelain each showcase an exceptional single terroir. The range is completed by Majorum, a wine created from the domaine's oldest vines in the communes of Pouilly-Sur-Loire and Saint Andelain.

2014 Michel Redde Pouilly-Fumé Barre à Mine
“This is the first vintage from a newly established vineyard. There are 5 hectares of vines planted on flint, in what was an old stone quarry. The soils are pure stone, with no clay. A profound, overtly mineral nose. It is full of smoke and gunpowder notes. There follows a beautiful palate, very textured, delightfully harmonious, with precise orange and citrus fruits, fresh acids and a very pointed, needle-like core of minerals. It shows a very exciting polished grip in the finish, swathed in a huge, smoky minerality, dancing with elegant white fruits. Very savoury, indeed nothing short of profound. 18.5/20”

Refreshingly South African

Isono is a range of South African wines specially selected by Louis Latour Agencies to offer quality and value for money. South Africa was the first country outside France to be included in our portfolio. We were struck then, as we are today, by the dynamism and enthusiasm amongst its winemakers, striking landscape and the warm and generous welcome given to visitors.

This South African trio are sourced from a leading Swartland wine producer and offer freshness and purity of fruit at an affordable price. They are bottled under screw cap and have simple and uncluttered modern labels. Wines for the Isono range are always sourced from producers who treat the environment and their workers with respect.

Terroir driven wines from the Simonsberg Mountain

Morgenhof Estate is situated in the Stellenbosch region of South Africa. The 213 hectare estate, of which 78 hectares are under vine, lies on the slopes of the Simonsberg Mountain. The vineyards are dry farmed and worked to allow the myriad of different terroirs express themselves in the finished wines. The Estate is especially known for its fine reds and old vine Chenin Blanc.

The Estate has a long history. It was founded in 1692 and over the following three centuries changed hands several times. In 1993 the current owner, Anne Cointreau, bought the estate. Anne brought a wealth of knowledge and experience with her from France's Cognac region where her family can trace their involvement in viticulture back to 1270.

In 1995 a newly constructed underground octagonal cellar was completed. It was built so that Morgenhof's wines can age and develop in perfect conditions. During construction 10 000 cubic metres of soil was excavated and afterwards a formal garden created above the cellar.

2014 Morgenhof Chenin Blanc

For all the many great wines it now makes... South Africa's biggest trump card is still I still think chenin blanc. It's the main ingredient in most of the country's finest white wines... But it also works solo in some of the best oak-influenced richer whites... with, in the case of Morgenhof's nicely poised example, a flash of trademark Cox's apple-tartness and steely acidity.

M^cHENRY HOHNEN

Pioneering Wines from Margaret River

McHenry Hohnen is a partnership between long term Margaret River winemaker David Hohnen and his brother-in-law and vine grower Murray McHenry. The company is based at the Rocky Road Winery and sources grapes from the family's own vineyards which are all located in Southern Margaret River. The grapes reflect Margaret River's strengths with Chardonnay and Bordeaux varieties, along with alternatives such as Tempranillo and Marsanne that perform very well in the region's Mediterranean climate.

McHenry Hohnen's intention is to shape wines with verve and personality. They achieve this through hands-off winemaking which allows each wine to express its variety, growing season and individual site; and with viticultural practices that follow old-school holistic farming methods which cultivate an environment where the soil and its organisms, along with plants, insects and animals, co-exist in a thriving equilibrium. Mike Slegers brings more than 20 years Western Australian viticultural experience whilst winemaking is handled by Trent Carroll and under the guidance of David Hohnen.

2012 McHenry Hohnen, Rocky Road Single Vineyard Cabernet Sauvignon

“The Rocky Road vineyard is in the south of Margaret River. The wine was made without any adjustment (acid, tannin, etc) and is unfined and unfiltered. Subdued, dark fruit nose with cassis, herb and graphite notes. Sweet and generous on attack then firm and long on the finish. One to cellar.”

The Wine is Everything

Wakefield Wines was founded in 1969 by the Taylor family; wine merchants from Sydney, who dreamed of making their own wines. They chose the Clare Valley because they recognised the potential in its Terra Rossa soils combined with its warm days and cool nights that allow slow, gradual grape development. The decision proved to be a wise one; their maiden release, a 1973 Cabernet Sauvignon, was awarded best red in show at the Royal Adelaide Wine Show.

Today the company is in the hands of the third generation and whilst their range and estate have grown, they have remained true to their founding principles and produce distinctive, world class wines. Innovation and a willingness to push boundaries are key to their success. They were the first Australian winery to bottle entirely under screw cap and are leaders in environmental sustainability having produced the world's first truly carbon neutral wine range.

2012 Wakefield The Pioneer Shiraz

The Taylor family have pulled out all the stops for this top-of-the-range Shiraz. Winemaker Adam Eggins and the Wakefield viticultural team picked their favourite blocks early in the 2012 vintage, bringing together a “range of micro-climates and elevations” across the Clare Valley. For the judges, the approach paid off. “Concentrated, epic a massive mouthful,” they said. “Dark fruits, cigar box and tobacco, with notes of dark chocolate, too. The length is huge, but it’s a very elegant, stylish wine – exceptional quality and very true to its origins.”

Jaraman wines showcase Australia’s viticultural diversity, each combines two exceptional parcels, from two iconic wine regions. The winemaking approach ensures the individual characteristics of each parcel are retained, the final wine being more than the sum of its two parts.

2014 Wakefield Estate Shiraz

“...My chosen Wakefield Shiraz is the perfectly tidy Estate offering, barely troubling the scorers at around the £13-mark. What is remarkable about this wine is that everyone who identified with the Pioneer will see echoes of this icon wine in this earnest foot-soldier. The colour is the same, the nose has recognisable scent-similarities and the lushness and length of palate bear all of winemaker Adam Eggins' DNA. This is a great effort and one wine which will be sure to infiltrate the market in impressive quantities...”

All Good Things

Seresin Estate was founded in 1992 by cinematographer Michael Seresin, with a desire to create a winery which made wine in the most natural way possible and did not compromise on quality. It is this passion for organics, wine and food that forms the foundations of everything that Seresin Estate represents.

Seresin Estate lies in the sun-soaked heart of Marlborough at the top of New Zealand's South Island, with vineyards spread across the warm stony Wairau Valley floor and up into the gentle clay slopes of the Omaka Valley to the South. The specially chosen sites encompass not only the vines and olive groves, but also pasture land, livestock, honey bees, vegetable gardens and orchards, as well as native vegetation.

Hand-tendered and hand-picked, Seresin Estate has forged its own evolving styles of wine, led by the vineyard and valuing slower traditional winemaking. All wines are fermented using natural yeasts, suitable for vegans and vegetarians and held in bottle before release.

Organic for everyday

MOMO meaning 'offspring' in Maori, is an approachable range of wines from Seresin Estate. Selected for their essence of fruit characters, MOMO wines are true to variety and represent a somewhat more vibrant Marlborough style, while maintaining an interesting character, which is the mark of Seresin.

All MOMO wines are wholly organic and produced from either biodynamic fruit grown on the Seresin Estate property itself, or dedicated certified organic growers with whom Seresin work with very closely to ensure quality.

Fermented using natural yeast and made with the same traditional approach that is given to the Seresin Estate ranges, MOMO offers an affordable organic alternative for everyday dining. From 2014 vintage, all MOMO wines are also vegan friendly.

VIU MANENT

VALLE DE COLCHAGUA - CHILE

CHILE

1 Colchagua

Family owned since 1935

Viu Manent was founded in 1935 by Miguel Viu Garcia with his sons Agustin and Miguel Viu Manent. They worked first as negociants however, in 1966 they were able to fulfil a long held ambition and bought the Hacienda San Carlos de Cunaco, the estate in the Colchagua Valley from which they had long sourced their wines. The estate included 150 hectares of noble, pre-phyloxera vines and was first established in the 19th century.

Today, passion for their family's heritage and vineyards drives Viu Manent to produce expressive wines, with the utmost respect for their surroundings. Managing Director Jose Miguel Viu Bottini has led the search for new Colchagua terroirs. In the west near the town Peralillo they identified and planted La Capilla and El Olivar vineyards on hillsides with low fertility soils. Their belief in the potential of Colchagua led them to investigate the viticultural potential of Coastal Colchagua. They now work closely with growers in the Litueche region, and since the 2014 vintage their Gran Reserva Chardonnay has come from these vineyards.

VIU MANENT

VALLE DE COLCHAGUA - CHILE

Viu Manent's newer plantings in La Capilla and El Olivar vineyards have allowed them to explore unique and distinctive Colchagua terroirs and increase the richness and diversity of their range of wines. La Capilla's vines grow on very low fertility limestone soils at around 230 metres above sea level and are well suited to Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Camernere and Malbec. El Olivar is located on steep 45° slopes in the foot hills of the Coastal Range Mountains. The soils are relatively deep and have a high percentage of small and medium sized rocks. Grenache, Mourvedre and Syrah all thrive in this vineyard.

Viu Manent are Certified Sustainable by Wines of Chile, their Carbon Footprint has been independently audited by CEMARS and they are actively taking steps to reduce their impact. In addition to sustainable farming practices their distribution is 100% Carbon Neutral and is independently audited by The Carbon Neutral Company. Their use of light weight bottles has been a great contribution towards this certification. In the winery they have adopted responsible methods disposal of liquids and put in place a companywide policy to reduce, reuse and recycle other items. They are also actively working to reduce their energy use with an aim to reduce their Green House Gas Emissions by 10%.
